

Wear
Fairy
Wings,
Bring
Magic to Millions in East Africa

Friday 2nd of June is Smile in Pink Day - a fundraising day for Bridge2Aid.

It's the day thousands in the dental community join forces and wear pink for a really good cause: to ensure millions in East Africa have access to safe emergency dental treatment.

Over 70% of the world has no access to any form of safe treatment for oral diseases and infections, people are abandoned to agony for months and years. They face life-threatening infections and pain that is so severe that they cannot work, go to school or feed their families.

Smile in Pink Day raises money to provide intensive practical training in emergency dental skills to existing health workers in East Africa – ensuring those in the poorest communities are able to function free from unnecessary pain, and avoid the risk of preventable infections and diseases.

This year it is all about fairy magic and fun. It's simple - all you have to do is get your pink on with fairy wings and fairy cakes and fundraise whatever you can.

Get involved and join the Smile in Pink fairy magic movement on 2nd June
